General Aviation

At Sompo, we understand the unique needs of the aviation industry. We have dedicated more than 35 years of service to the aviation insurance market, offering support and capacity to a variety of General Aviation products, ranging from large Part 135 air carriers and Part 91 owner/operators to aviation-related product manufacturers, fixed-base operations (FBOs) and their ancillary services.

Sompo's specialized team of aviation underwriters carefully monitor changes in the market in order to provide creative solutions addressing our client's risks and exposures.

We align ourselves closely with our trusted distribution partners to offer our valued clients the highest level of service and support.

Our risk control experts work diligently with clients, brokers, underwriting teams, skilled engineers and loss control vendors to provide customized risk management and loss control services that minimize potential losses. We also have an in-house claims team with extensive industry and product knowledge, available to offer efficient service, timely responses and fast payment of covered claims — if the need arises.
