Casualty

Our Casualty team offers both primary and excess coverage across a broad array of casualty products determined by both territory and sector. At Sompo, our approach is to build long-term relationships with our clients and provide insurance programs that are tailored to their specific needs within the evolving business and global environment. We also collaborate closely with our Property and Energy underwriting colleagues to offer integrated solutions specific to the needs of our insureds.

Our Casualty offering comprises of two business units: London Market Casualty and UK Commercial Casualty. These business areas are structured to support differing client needs depending on the territorial origin and distribution channel that is being utilised to access Sompo.

Underwriting appetite is generally broad with a focus towards clients with a strong risk management culture that is embedded throughout their organisations.
